ICM Document Solutions Announces Corporate Move

Global growth spurs move to modern facility.

PHOENIX, AZ – July 23, 2010 – ICM Document Solutions (ICM) is pleased to announce the opening of a new Corporate Headquarters in Phoenix, Arizona effective immediately. The new office is located at 4320 E. Cotton Center Boulevard, Suite 106, Phoenix AZ 85040 in the Cotton Center. The Cotton Center is a 280-acre master-planned business park strategically located just minutes from Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport. The new facility serves as corporate, development, sales, and marketing headquarters for ICM's global operations along with regional full-service document processing operations. With the continued expansion into global markets, ICM has chosen a prime technology corporate center.

As ICM heads into its 23rd year of operation, the new headquarters is one of several targeted investments in expanding ICM's capability to better serve customers. In addition to providing support for ICM's growth, the new office is part of ICM's commitment to remain a highly desirable employer. The new Corporate Headquarters is designed with the latest technologies as well as security specifications for the Department of Defense SECRET clearance. The new office also highlights ICM's commitment to sustainability with energy-saving features throughout the facility. Kevin Smith, President of ICM, said "As we continue to grow in customer base and product offerings, our new facility will help us attract and retain world-class employees." "The enhanced and modern facility benefits our clients through improved security to handle sensitive and classified documents," added Smith.
